THE TRADE OF CLARKSVILLE.

The impression seems to prevail very generally, that the fate of Clarksville as a business point, will be determined in a very short time, with the chances rather against it. In this opinion we concur fully. Some exthat Clarksville should prosper and grow, always acted towards him: because it is in the midst of a fertile region. railroad running through it, which with its connections will soon bring the town within two or three hours of an exhaustless supply of coal. It is true that these afford advantages, which if properly improved, will lead to wealth and prosperity; but it must be remembered that both river and railroad lead to other points more or less remote and offer to those points the same facilities afforded to us, and the coal, so valuable under certain expeditions is a more convenience when used

Mr. Davies is said to be a young man of superior taleuts, an earnest and eloquent preacher.

The following resolutions, relative to Dr. Wardlaw, the retiring pastor, were passed at 1351, advancing to 1371, and closed at unanimously by the congregation, and we will add that we believe the entire community join the church in their regrets at his removal, and admiration of him as a christian gentleman and scholar. for laboring men.

The past year has been a disastrous one to very many, and few in deed, engaged in mercantile pursuits, have realised the expectations with which they commenced business one year ago. The great staples of our R. B. TARPLEY & CO. crop : have been very short. Large amounts of money have disappeared, leaving, perhaps, less than one-half the amount that was in the country at the close of the war. The scarcity of money, the present year, will be seriously felt in this community, and the necessity for an economical adjustment of affairs must be apparent to many. We enter upon another year's business with many misgivings as to its prosperity, for we regard the com-mercial horizon rather gloomy; and in view of these facts we deem it proper that we express our firm conviction that our only safety lies in adhering for the future, as in the past, to the Cash system of doing business. Any departure, we are satisfied, will prove hazardous to our interests, nor do we think any benefit would be derived by the community; on the contrary, we believe consumers are now buying their goods 15 to 25 per cent cheaper than if the credit system prevailed. We are aware of the difficulty of selling only for cash, as in many instances it is more convenient for the customer to buy on a credit, and it is often bard to say "no," and not give offence, yet realizing as we do, the absolute necessity to us of the prompt cash system, we commence this year with the fixed purpose of making it to the interest of every one to pay promptly, and we hope thus, by substantially offering a premium for the cash, to do away with all desire to obtain even short credits. In this connection it may not be im-Goods shipped promptly by proper to state, that we hold our salesmen personally responsible for the tickets they make.

We expect to labor more faithfully than ever before to please the publie, and to afford the greatest advantages to all, and we humbly claim that a thorough trial will convince any unprejudiced mind that we offer extra fa-cilities and inducements.
